STORY OF EVILS TO-DAY

As the first move toward a general toning down of Broadway's cabarets and trotteries, two cabaret managers were summoned before the West Side court yesterday on charges of conducting theatrical performances on dance hall licenses. The fact that this investigation by the License Bureau had been begun even before the disclosures in the Eugenia Kelly case has badly frightened many of the other cabaret restaurateurs along the gay White Way.

Their patrons found last night that the once rollicking places were no longer filled win the old time mirth.
Acting Mayor McAneny pointed to the action of License Commissioner George H. Bell as evidence that the administration officials are capable of handling the latest Broadway situation without calling out the militia or having a special investigation. He said as much yesterday after Commissioner much yesterday after Commissioner Bell and Police Commissioner Woods had spent half an hour in the acting had spent half an hour in the acting Mayor's office discussing the reform wave that had come after the story of the alleged escapades of Miss Kelly.

"I did not send for them," said Mr. McAneny. "Acting on their own initia-tive, Commissioners Woods and Bell called to see me this afternoon to accalled to see me this afternoon to acquaint me with what they were doing in the matter. They told me how they were handling these places in the routine way. The places are operating under the close inspection and supervision of these two departments as has been the custom. I am satisfied that they are capable of handling any situation that may arise.

No Complaints at City Hall. "As for myself," I will turn over to them any complaints sent to this office. None have been received thus far. That the Commissioners are alert is evidenced by the action of Commissioner Bell to-day." In line with this, the acting Mayor's programme, as far as there is one, Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, chairman of the comthe cabaret situation, will confer with missioner Bell on the evidence of evidence which Mrs. Moskowitz declared s stronger than that which closed Besides having these inpending disclosures to muse upon, Broadway frequenters, deprived last night in many places of some of the old cabaret features, had other gossip, also an outgrowth of the Kelly case. Mrs. Al J. Davis, wife of the dancer, former wine agent and partner of Bonnie Glass one agent and partner of Bonnie Glass, one of the young men to whom Miss Kelly's mother objected as unfit company for her daughter, sued Davis yesterday for an absolute divorce. No names were "Can you explain, then, this note for Grout.

"Can you explain, then, this note for $65,000 and the others you have testified about?" demanded Mr. Cropsey. Homer R. Mallow, manager of the Hotel Wallick, were the cabaret men sum-moned to court for license violations. Inspectors Whalen and Tracy, acting with half a dozen other inspectors under Commissioner Bell, spent several eve-nings this week at these two places and in their complaint stated that the rformers were costumes and gave their its on raised platforms, where theatriproperties were used.

Moskowitz has a long story to to Mr. Bell about the seven before David A. Sullivan merged it with places visited by her committee's in-vestigators since the Kelly case. She talked with the License Commissioner by telephone yesterday. She will see him at his office to-day and turn over to him, probably in affidavit form, the evidence she has against the places which she considers worse than the once notorious Haymarket: Mrs. Moswitz is confident that the Commis-oner's openmindedness on the subject will nelp her accomplish the desired re-form. Her committee has secured the legal services of A. S. Gilbert.

Although the complaint was not filed until yesterday the papers were served on Davis last Tuesday at the Hotel Van Cort-West Forty-ninth street.

The complaint, drawn by the law firm of Johnston & Messler of 256 Broadway, states that Mr. and Mrs. Davis were married on June 1, 1908, and that they have a son, John Van Holland Davis, now 6 years old. The corespondent in the case is not mentioned by name and there was no indication that the woman Mrs. Davis charges her husband with misconduct with a woman unknown to her on May 19 last at the Hotel St. Francis, at 124 West Forty-seventh street. She also makes the general allegation of improper relations with a woman not named at "various times and various places" between October 1, 1914. and May 1 last, and charges that "be-tween or on or about these dates" he at a New York hotel lew York hotel.
